SCHEDULE 2 – CONTENT FEE

GENERAL PRINCIPLE IN CONNECTION WITH REVENUE SHARE

- CAL will pay 40% of all Net Revenue generated by the Platform to all content producers (including the CP) who supply content for the Platform (“Revenue Share”).
- This Net Revenue is distributed to all content producers (including the CP) who supply content for the Platform based on the viewership received for their respective content.

COMPUTATION OF STREAMS

- In order for any Content (or components thereof) to participate in the Revenue Share in any month, such Content (or components thereof) must have been watched for at least 50% of its length by at least a single subscriber.
- Upon qualifying as such, the Content (or any component thereof) shall be referred to as a Stream.
- A subscriber can generate more than one Stream in relation to the CP by watching more than one clip (for at least 50% of its length) from Content provided by the CP.
- A video clip will generate multiple Streams where multiple subscribers watch it (for at least 50% of its length).
- Duplicate viewership of a video clip will not generate multiple Streams.

Therefore:

- The number of Streams for a video clip in one month is therefore the total number of subscribers who have watched that video clip for at least 50% of its length in that month.
- The number of Streams for the CP is the aggregate number of Streams for all video clips derived from Content provided by that CP.
- The total number of Streams in a month for the Platform is the aggregate number of Streams for all video clips hosted on the Platform.

E.g. if the Platform has 1000 subscribers and 100 clips in total in a given month, out of which, 60 clips were then watched for over 50% of their respective length by all the subscribers, then the total Streams for the month shall be:

1000subscribers x 60clips = 60,000 Streams.

Similarly, if 500 subscribers watched all the available (100) clips for more than 50% of their respective lengths, then the total Streams will be:

500 x 100 = 50,000 streams

COMPUTATION OF SHARE OF REVENUE – CONTENT FEES

- The CPs Revenue Share for a month is computed based on total time spent viewing that CPs Streams divided by total time spent on all the Streams.
- The length of time spent watching a CPs Streams is the aggregate number of minutes spent watching the Streams.

Therefore:

- CPs Revenue Share for a month is the length of time spent watching the CPs Streams divided by the total amount of time spent watching all the Streams on the Platform in that month.
- Any viewership of a clip for less than 50% of its length does not count and shall not be considered a Stream. Duplicate viewership of a clip by one subscriber does not count and shall not be considered a Stream.

e.g. if total Streams for the month generated viewing time of 5000 minutes and the CPs 500 streams a total of 400 minutes, then, the CPs share of revenue is 8% of the content share of the Net Revenue (i.e. 8% of 40% of the Net Revenue).
